MILLS' SEMINARY.

Graduating Exercises Yesterday — Presentation of Diplomas.

The graduating exercises of the young ladies who have just completed their studies at Mill's Seminary, took place yesterday in the presence of some three hundred and fifty friends and parents. The programme which was published in the TRIBUNE of Wednesday, was harmoniously carried out. The essays were all well written and gave evidence of considerable labor and thought in their preparation. "Our Educators," by Miss Stevenson, took a broad view of the subject, and classed among our teachers, parents, books, companions, travel, experience and suffering, through the last of which we often receive our most valuable knowledge." Miss Farnsworth's essay on "Angles and Curves," as found in all nature, was especially praiseworthy. "Advantages and Disadvantages," by Miss Lohman, was also a well-written essay. "Vestigia Nulla Retrorsum," which is the motto of the school, was the subject of an able essay by Miss Minnie Henderson. "Labor," by Miss Emma Rulofson, was an excellent production, and "The Unattained," by Miss Bertha Lewis, was full of poetical imagery, evincing descriptive powers of no mean order. Miss Mary Farquharson's French essay on "Mme. Recamier a l'Abbaye-aux-Bois," was well written and delivered in a manner that would have done credit to a native of La Belle France, for the young lady's accent was almost faultless. "Corner Stones," by Miss Mary E. Nichol, was an exceptionally fine production. It spoke of woman as the corner-stone of society, upon whose character the superstructure depends for moral and physical strength and beauty. The necessity of educating the body as well as the mind was dwelt upon at length. "Giving and Receiving," was an excellent essay by Miss Coleman, and deserves a more extended notice than can be given here. Miss Effie E. Parsons, of Castroville, left the beaten path of prose essays, and read an original poem that is a remarkable production for so young a lady. "Inconsistent Expectations," by Miss Cora C. Curtis, was the last of the essays, and concluded with a valedictory.

ANNUAL ADDRESS.

Rev. C. E. Dwinell delivered an address to the class, telling them that the education which they have completed is not the end, but the means. That it fits them for acquiring knowledge of life by giving them the mastery of the instrument of thought, by quickening the perceptions and pointing out the goal to be reached. The musical selection rendered by the graduates and others must not be forgotten. The thoroughness of Prof. Hartmann's instrumental instruction and Prof. Kelleher's vocal training was shown by the excellent performance of difficult music. The singing of Miss Grace E. Pinsted is especially worthy of mention and praise. Her voice is remarkably clear and sweet, and the ease with which she rendered the most difficult passages from "Lucrezia Borgia" and the "Stabat Mater" proved that she had not neglected her opportunities.

Mr. Mills, the Principal, delivered a short farewell address, and presented the diplomas to

THE GRADUATES,

Of whom a list is given below: Lillie D. Gay, North San Juan; Edith J. Porter, Portland, Oregon; Virginia J. Gay, North San Juan; Mary E. Stevenson, Hill's Ferry; Alice J. Farnsworth, Grand Island; Emma M. Wiggins, San Francisco; Alice J. Lohman, Oakland; Minnehaha Henderson, Fruit Vale; Emma P. Rulofson, San Francisco; Bertha R. Lewis, Watsonville; Mary E. Farquharson, San Francisco; Mary E. Nichol, San Pablo; Mary L. Coleman, Grass Valley; Effie E. Parsons, Castroville; Cora C. Curtis, Oakland.

The general excellence in all branches exhibited by the graduates shows the institution to be in a flourishing condition, and that it is a credit to California, whose educational advantages are inferior to no State in the Union.

U. S. Grand Jury Report.

The United States Grand Jury filed their final report yesterday, and, as was predicted by the TRIBUNE two weeks ago would be the case, they found no true bills based upon the election frauds, though the jury admits that the evidences of such frauds were abundant. It was plain to be seen then that the haste of the United States District Attorney to "get through" with the investigation would preclude the possibility of a thorough and searching investigation, such as ought to have been made. Most of the jurors showed an earnest purpose to get at the bottom facts, but their efforts were not seconded outside of the jury room, and the most important witnesses were not called before the body until the very last hours of the session, and then were called in unexpectedly and without the slightest intimation as to what line of facts they would be expected to throw light upon, thus allowing no time or opportunity for them to refresh their memory as to matters which had long since passed out of mind. Some, perhaps all of the witnesses, were further confused by the undue haste manifested, to the exclusion of facts that might and undoubtedly would have been established with a little time allowed to procure certain important witnesses.

The jury are profuse in their suggestions of amendments to the State registry law, but these suggestions, it occurs to us, will carry but little weight, and come with bad grace from a body of men who say that the result of their investigations has "left upon their minds the conviction that frauds have been committed upon the purity of the elective franchise," and in the same breath add that, "at the same time, from the nature of the testimony and defects in the registration law, it is impossible to find indictments with any probability of convictions resulting therefrom."

Competition on the Bay.

The outlook for strong and lasting competition in the carrying trade on the Bay is very good. The combination of San Francisco capitalists, which is said to embrace Flood & O'Brien, Milton S. Latham and others, will before many months put on between this city and San Francisco two of the largest, finest and fastest ferry boats that have ever floated upon Pacific waters, and then we may expect to cross the Bay for, at most, ten cents one way and fifteen cents for the round trip. It is understood that Flood & O'Brien are the backers of the Alameda and Dumbarton Point Narrow Gauge Railroad Company, which has already launched one fine ferry boat and will have another ready in a few months, to ply between San Francisco and Alameda Point, for the accommodation of trade and travel between the metropolis and the southern portion of Alameda county. Oakland, however, need have no fears of the diversion of trade by this new route inasmuch as at present the trade of that section nearly all passes directly through our city without stopping; but on the contrary, the building up of the southern portion of our county cannot fail to redound to the prosperity of Oakland.

Suit has been instituted by Joseph F. La Malfa in Justice Graham's Court to recover from L. W. Kennedy the sum of $80, on a promissory note.

Denecke Bros. have commenced suit in Justice Graham's Court to recover from T. J. McDaniel an alleged balance due of $52 35, on a bill of merchandise sold and delivered.

Suit was commenced in the County Court yesterday by John Fennessy to recover from George Dean the sum of $140, rent alleged as due for the premises known as lot 27, in block 69, Oakland, and the house situated thereon. The complaint also prays that the lease of Dean be declared forfeited.

Dietz Hall.

"Esther"—announced as a "Sacred Cantata"—was produced last evening before a fair audience. This "Sacred Cantata" is one of those meaningless musical eccentricities which obtain a degree of popularity with indulgent and interested audiences, but which, judged from an artistic point of view, are utterly beneath criticism. So long as such performances are confined to their legitimate sphere—school festivals and the like—the critic is lenient, but when a "sacred cantata" is announced for public performance and an admission fee is charged, then is he freed from the fetters caused by friendship or social intercourse. Last night's entertainment—to any but interest parties—was absurd and incongruous, the height of absurdity and incongruity being reached in the last scene when two little girls appeared and danced a "Cachucha" to music well known, we dare say, in every melodeon throughout the U. S. A., and this during the representation of a Scriptural scene.

Pinney and Carr.

Pinney put the San Francisco jail in his pocket yesterday and came across the Bay to visit his friends in Oakland, and during the respite and relaxation thus allowed Billy Carr, that worthy swore out fifteen additional complaints against the wily George M., all for misdemeanor in defrauding certain banks out of the aggregate sum of $373,734 77. Sixty-five additional charges are said to be now in course of framing. Should Pinney be found guilty on each of those already brought, and be made to suffer punishment by the imposition of fine and not be able to pay the fine, the Court would have power to order him imprisoned for 896,902 days, or 2,457 years and 267 days.

Sale of Telegraph Avenue Property.

The beautiful residence and grounds of Peter Thomson, on Telegraph avenue, covering five acres of land, were sold to-day for $45,000. The purchaser is Mr. B. W. Reagan, one of the principal owners of the Silver King mine, Arizona.

NOTES AND EXCERPTS.

It is stated that ex-Senator Carpenter's law practice brings him $75,000 per annum. Eight to seven it isn't worth a fraction of that amount to his clients when they happen to be applicants for the Presidency.

Secretary Sherman says he can let the people of Illinois have all the silver they want—if they will forward the greenbacks to pay for it. This is a specie-ous way of putting it, and shows a very legal-tender regard for the financial requirements of the State.

The 167th anniversary of the death of John Eliot, the apostle to the Indians, was observed in several churches Newton, Mass., on Sunday. His first sermon to the Indians was preached at Nonantum, in Newton, Oct. 21, 1646. In 1674 he had 1,100 praying Indians and 25 native preachers.

At the Royal Academy dinner, Mr. Gladstone, in answering for "Literature," remarked that art teaches that a disproportionate development of the different faculties can secure real progress, and he illustrated by saying that a sudden growth of wealth and luxury leads to deformity in art, not progress.

Gen. Sherman's speech at the Chamber of Commerce banquet in New York is pronounced a gem of oratory by those supposed to be conversant with such matters, and it is especially remarkable inasmuch as military men are seldom effective in the use of words. Indeed, there is danger that Gen. Sherman will ruin his military reputation by writing and speaking so well.

The printers who erected the monument and bronze bust over the grave of Horace Greeley at Greenwood, have issued, in the highest style of the typographic art, an octavo pamphlet of 34 pages, giving a full history of the movement, with the speeches, poem, &c., delivered at the unveiling of the bust. A few large copies have also been issued in sumptuous quarto form.

Victor Hugo's new volume of poetry, entitled "The Art of Being a Grandfather," has been published in Paris. The same great writer has in hand a history of the "Coup d'Etat," which will be published simultaneously in French, English, German, and Italian. He is also writing a novel, but it would be premature to give any information as to its contents; and we are glad it would be premature, as do not happen to know what the contents are.

The Czar ought to be a popular sovereign, for he knows how to ride and be courteous to his subjects. His horsemanship is perfect; although his face is seamed and careworn, in the saddle he shows no signs of age. At Odessa, on May 2, he noticed a poor woman by the roadside who saluted him as he rode by. Turning in the saddle and looking back, he bowed and touched his cap to her as politely as though she were a princess.

Edwards Pierrepont is in trouble again for two offenses,—first, for having presented his son at court, the young man being at an age when English boys are usually kept under the care of their tutors; and, secondly for petitioning the Earl Manvers, head of the so-called Pierreponts of England, for permission to use the family crest on his carriage. He should not have been so presumptuous in the first case, or so much of a flunkey in the other; but perhaps both charges need more ample confirmation.

The American Architect is evidently pleased with the plans of the proposed music hall for Mr. Thomas's orchestra in New York. It says that Mr. Thorp's designs are contrived with great cleverness, but is afraid that half a million dollars is too small an estimate for the cost of the building. There is no ground for apprehension on that score. The estimates are those of contractors. The building need not cost more than half a million. The project is in the hands of practical men, not dreamers.

When a Russian army officer or other person of note is condemned to exile in Siberia, he is first made to kneel on a scaffold before the people, while the epaulets and decorations are torn off, and his sword broken over his head. He is declared legally dead, and his wife, if he is married, can if she chooses, consider herself a widow. His estates are confiscated to the Crown. If his wife and children follow him they can never return.

Gladstone's late speech on the Eastern question seems to have been one of the most remarkable efforts of his life. After a wrangle which took all the enthusiasm out of the House, and while the members were streaming out to dinner, Mr Gladstone, who is now 68 years of age, sprang to his feet, and, the Spectator says, "delivered a noble speech, lasting two hours and a half, full of argumentative point, of bitter irony, of historical detail, of keen invective, and grand declamation. It was the greatest triumph irrepressible moral and physical vitality over depressing conditions which was, perhaps, ever won in the House of Commons."

Watercresses are now an important article of commerce in Paris, where their consumption has of late years increased enormously. Formerly Paris depended for its watercresses on crops gathered by night from brooks and ponds by persons who made it their business to traverse the country for some miles around in search of them, and they were, as a rule, of a very inferior quality. In 1810 an officer of the French army, being at Erfurth, saw a number of wide ditches filled with spring watercresses, and conceived the idea of forming, in the valley of Nonette, between Senlis and Chantilly, a similar cress-growing establishment, conducted on a system. This led to a great development of cress culture and the market for this plant. Other cress growers started in business in the environs of Paris, and at the present time, at all seasons, more than thirty cart loads of cresses are sent to Paris daily, each load being worth about $60, representing a consumption of about $1,800 worth of cresses in twenty-four hours, or more than $600,000 worth a year.

Col. Blanton Duncan has supplied the Louisville papers with some war news. It dates back 11 years, its interest centers mainly in Col. Blanton Duncan, and in the end it comes to nothing. In 1866 the Prince of Roumania tendered to Gen. Beauregard, who was then in Paris, the command of his armies, offering him the rank of field marshal, $100,000 a year, a liberal outfit, and the privilege of selecting his staff, of whom Col. Blanton Duncan, of course, would have been chief. Gen. Beauregard did'nt go; nor did Col. Blanton Duncan; but Gen. Beauregar dnow writes, a letter to the man who might have been chief of staff, telling him what he would do if he had 200,000 Confederate troops under the pay of the Porte; how he would send Gen. Forrest's cavalry to destroy the depots of supplies, railroads, and bridges from the Danube to Middle Russia, whence they could be transported to the rear of the Russian troops operating in Asia; how he would give Forrest all the camels he wanted; how he would keep carrier-pigeons in full flight between Forrest and himself; how he would keep the Black Sea clear and starve out the Russians. The chief of staff, unconscious that Beauregard is stuffing him, posts himself for a greenhorn by furnishing the letter for publication.

A CARD.

The General Principles of Baunscheidtism.

Since the arrest of DR. RENKEN for the practice of the genuine Baunscheidt healing method, there has been so much said about it in the papers, and so many people have thereby been led to make inquiries regarding this new mode of reaching disease, that I feel it my duty to state, for the general benefit, some of the principles of the action of genuine BAUNSCHEIDT, LIFE-RESTORER OLEUM in removing the various kinds of disease from the remotest parts of the human system.

THE OLEUM.

1st.—The Oleum is directly introduced into the blood upon the principle of innoculation, where, by a delicate chemical action, it soon dissolves and removes disease.

2d.—The life-principle contained within the oleum is opposite in character and nature to that of disease, and when these two (the Oleum and disease) come in contact with each other the opposite dynamic power of the Oleum soon overcomes that of disease; hence disease has to depart the system, and thus the combined action of the life-principles of the Oleum and the human body, together, soon master the most stubborn of old chronic cases, where the medicated drug-swallowing methods of Allopathy have ignominiously failed.

THE LEBENSWECKER.

3d.—The Lebenswecker (or life-restorer) is the instrument used to puncture the skin and thus allow the Oleum to immediately enter the blood—also, the punctures made by the Lebenswecker becomes a local point through which disease is soon driven out. The act of circulation carries the Oleum to the remotest parts, and is thus instantly brought in contact with the life-principle of disease, which is soon overcome by the superior chemical dynamic principle of life contained within the Oleum. In simple language, the Oleum reaches and kills disease; whose dead carcass is driven out of the system through passage-points made by the Lebenswecker, and also through the natural channels of the body.

4th.—By this METHOD OF CURE the blood is radically purified of all poisonous virus, of all disease, and the machinery of the delicate organs of mind and body is allowed to perform its functions in a healthy, normal manner. The blood then carries with itself and deposits where required, all the essential elements of material and life required to build up and keep in repair every organ of mind and body. The process of digestion, respiration and secretion then operates like clock-work, and the functions work and keep time to, and fulfil the requirements of a healthy being. Our aches and pains then cease, we love God and man the more, and society is freed of the influence (disease) that causes crime: we walk forth, a happy, healthy man!

☞ By the Baunscheidt mode of treatment every man and woman of ordinary intelligence may soon become his or her own physician, and thus avoid being poisoned by Allopathic quacks, and all such medical vampires.

The principles of Baunscheidtism are easily understood. No vague theories nor speculative mysteries surround it; no recourse is made to a dead language to clothe its terms, and beg for it a spurious respectability; no pedantic, quack display of medical technology.

Baunscheidt Lebenwecker Oleum, is a God-given remedy, absolute and specific, simple and true, for all laymen to acquire and possess, and thus be free from the greatest of curses, a mercenary, money-making, drug-poisoning M. D.

INHUMAN BARBARITY.

A Series of Unparalleled Outrages Perpetrated upon a Friendless Family.

John Case, a small, feeble Scotchman, past the middle age, five feet three inches in height, and weighing between 125 and 130 pounds, lives on the north side of Fourteenth street, off Magnolia, with his wife and two children, a handsome little boy of seven summers and an infant now about six months of age. His wife is a simple-minded, timorous Scotch woman, of about thirty-five, and totally unacquainted with the forms of law and until the 11th ultimo a stranger to scenes of brutality. John Lyons, a large-boned, athletic young Irishman, 30 years of age, within one inch of six feet in height, and weighing about 170 pounds, lives with his wife in rear of Case's place near Fifteenth street. On the 11th of May some of Lyons' ducks entered the chicken yard of Case and

KILLED SIX CHICKENS.

Case is a gardener and was absent at work. Mrs Case drove out all of the ducks but two, which were so contrary that she could not eject them. Mrs. Lyons went to the premises and demanded the other ducks. Mrs. Case told her to take them. Mrs. Lyons declined to do so, and went home. Lyons was also at work as a car repairer or cleaner for the railroad company. Both men returned to their homes about the same time, toward evening. As Case reached the corner of his own house he was confronted by Lyons, who demanded in an angry manner, the two ducks in the corral. Case demanded pay for his chickens, and some words followed. According to Case's story (which is corroborated in the main by others), as he turned to walk to the chicken yard to see if the ducks were there, Lyons struck him on the head with his fist, knocked him down and kicked him in the breast, on the hip, and twice in the left side,

BREAKING TWO OF HIS RIBS,

And driving them into the lung. Mrs. Case was standing near by with her infant in her arms, and seeing her helpless husband was being kicked to death by the infuriated Lyons, caught him by the coat-tail and endeavored to pull him away. At this the herculean brute wheeled and dealt her a heavy blow, knocking her to the earth and sending her screaming infant whirling through the air. By this time Case had recovered consciousness and regained his feet, and, inferring from the screams of both that his wife and child had been assaulted, seized a heavy base ball club which stood hard by and attempted to or did throw it at Lyons, but in the effort the broken ribs tore into his bleeding lung with such sudden and excruciating pain that the force of the effort was broken and the club fell near the feet of Lyons, but whether it hit him or not is not certainly known.

THE HUGE SAVAGE

Then seized the club and started with it updrawn, when Case ran. By this time two stout men had arrived upon the ground and seized Lyons, but with his superior strength he brushed them away as though they had been but the strands of a cob web, and continuing the chase he struck Case a murderous blow with the heavy club along the right side of the head, just above the ear, felling him to the earth, rigid as if he had been dead. Here Lyons would doubtless have murdered his helpless victim had it not been for the prompt interference of the two men alluded to. The screams of the woman and her two little children attracted the attention of the neighbors for blocks around, and many of them witnessed from a distance the closing scenes of this exhibition of unparalleled brutality, and grew sick at heart at the

FIEND-LIKE FEROCITY

And merciless cruelty displayed by Lyons. Case was taken into the house and Dr. R. D. Mauzy called to examine his wounds. Later in the evening, and while Case was lying in a critical condition, a number of the neighbors who had witnessed the cruel beating, assembled at the house and insisted upon Mrs. Case going up and swearing out a warrant for the arrest of Lyons. She went to the City Hall and applied for a warrant, but was told to call again next morning. Shortly after she left the Hall the "gallant" Lyons also called there, and had the sublime assurance to ask for a warrant for the arrest of the victims of his brutality—for battering HIM—the innocent! He was also told to come again next morning. On the morning of the 12th, as soon as the half-crazed woman, Mrs. Case, could get breakfast and wash and dress her little ones and the painful wounds of her helpless husband, she repaired to the City Hall and applied to Judge Jayne for a warrant—but instead of getting one, she and her innocent babe, not then six months old, were

THRUST INTO A FILTHY CELL

With three brutalized, drunken women, who divide their time between the city prison and the lowest, filthiest dens in the city! This was on the warrant of the great brute, Lyons! The shock was so sudden and overwhelming, coupled with the one of the previous evening, and the situation and the scenes so revolting to her simple and sensitive nature, that the poor woman was almost bereft of reason—and as a matter of fact she has not yet recovered from it. The lacteal fluid which was wont to give sustenance to the child ceased to flow, and in the midst of the innocent mother's almost mortal agony and the piteous cries of her hungry babe, even the degraded and hardened wretches who sat upon their mean pallets and looked with blared eyes upon the

HEART-RENDING SCENE

Before them were melted into women again, and appealed to the officer in charge to bring some milk for the child. After one of these women had battered at the door for some time, the officer in charge (and we regret that we have not his name) approached and asked what was wanted. On being asked to bring a little milk for the child, he gruffly replied, "We have no milk for prisoners," and threatened to place the petitioner in the "dark cell" if she dared disturb him again. The women occupying the cell into which Mrs. Case and her babe were thrust, were Mary Quirk, Kate Flynn, and Jane Graham, all incorrigible old drunks, whose names are familiar as household words to the police and to readers of the Police Court reports. There was but one chair in the cell, and this was tenderly tendered to the outraged woman, while two buckets of filth sent out an intolerable stench from one corner of the room. With a helpless husband at home, unable to turn upon his pillow without assistance, and

A LITTLE HUNGRY BOY

Only seven years of age, who might thoughtlessly set fire to the house, or be murdered by the brute who had well nigh murdered his father (thought the woman in her agony), this poor woman and her innocent babe were kept locked in a cell of the City Prison until about half-past five o'clock in the afternoon, when some human (the woman thinks it was Dr. Dio Lewis) came to her rescue, and she was allowed to go. So shattered was her reason by her terrible experience of the preceding 24 hours, that she at first declined to go, and had to be almost forced from the prison, and afterward got lost upon the street several times and went wandering listlessly about the city. While she was in prison officer Shorey was dispatched to her residence to arrest her husband, but found him unable to be removed. Judge Jayne had refused the woman a warrant for the arrest of Lyons, but officer Shorey, after seeing the

FRIGHTFUL EFFECTS OF THE BEATING

The brute had given Case, returned and himself swore out a warrant charging Lyons with battery, and on the 14th, three days after the burial assault, Lyons was arrested, and admitted to bail. A few days subsequently, a gentleman informed Dr. P. W. Fonda, Councilman for the First Ward, of the dangerous condition of Case, and requested him to get an officer, visit the house and take down Case's statement, as there were grave doubts of his recovery. Dr. Fonda went to City Hall in the evening for an officer, but subsequently got Dr. L. H. Cary, City Physician, to accompany him. This visit was made on the night of the 16th, five days and some hours after Case was beaten, and up to this time Mrs. Case had not slept a wink, and her nerves were entirely unstrung. On two occasions at night on going out to look after her chickens, she says she caught Lyons listening at a side door against which stands the lounge on which her husband is still lying. Another, and a very intelligent lady, was present when Drs. Fonda and Cary called.

THE WOUNDED MAN

Lay in a front room and the ladies were in the kitchen adjoining, with an open door between. There was a light in the kitchen, but none in the front room, and the light only shone two or three feet into Case's room, striking the wall six or eight feet below the foot of the lounge on which he reposed. We should pass over this interview, but a good deal has been said about it, and Dr. Cary has been published as saying that "no wounds or bruises were to be seen on his (Case's) head or face;" that "the Doctor failed to discover any evidences of the severe beating which he claimed to have received," and that he "left the room strongly impressed with the conviction that the man was playing 'possum,'" etc. It is not at all strange that "no wounds or bruises were to be seen" in the dark, but if Dr. Cary, or any one else, will visit Case in day time, even now, they will see wounds and bruises of the

MOST SHOCKING CHARACTER.

Why Dr. Cary displayed so much partisan prejudice against Case, we leave others to infer from the facts, and him to explain. Neither Case nor his wife had slept five minutes for 120 hours next preceding Dr. Carey's call, and after his rudeness had aroused the darkest suspicions in the mind of the timid woman to such a pitch that she fell in a swoon, from which it took Dr. Fonda and the lady attendant full twenty minutes to restore her, Dr. Cary rushed into the dark room where the wounded man lay prostrate, felt of his pulse—and then rushed out again. A wonderful diagnosis he must have made! But against the above quoted thoughtless statements (if Dr. Cary was correctly reported in the first place), based upon the hasty feeling of Case's pulse in the dark, we have the deliberate judgment of Drs. Mauzy and Agard, two skillful physicians, who have been in almost constant attendance upon the wounded man for the past twenty days, and who have not only critically and repeatedly examined but have thoroughly studied the

CHARACTER OF THE WOUNDS.

These physicians say that the anterior third of the fifth and six ribs were fractured, and that the broken bones perforated the pleura, and perhaps penetrated the lung itself, as the patient has since repeatedly expectorated bloody mucus or pleuritic pus. As regards the wound on the head, they first entertained fears that there was a fracture at the base of the skull, as the pupil of the right eye became greatly dilated and would not contract under the application of the strongest light; but since the patient has recovered from his delirium and suffers less from pain in the head, they think it probable that the tremendous concussion caused an effusion of blood at the base of the brain, which, for a time, would produce all the symptoms of a

FRACTURE OF THE SKULL.

It is hardly within the range of possibility for Case to ever wholly recover, as he is now suffering from emphysema of the lungs, which will doubtless turn into consumption and end his days before the next Winter's winds cease to play about his humble little cottage.

John Case bears an enviable reputation, among those who had known him for years, as an honest, provident, sober, quiet and harmless man. He is poor, and if his wounds should disable him for many weeks more, as now seems probable, his little family will come to want—they are not upon the verge of it now. But think of such brutality being practiced here in the Christian city of Oakland; think of officials adding to the list of outrages perpetrated upon a poor, simple-minded and friendless woman, and for a moment contemplate the appalling spectacle of intelligent men, either by accident or design, palliating such barbarities in a civilized community.

Gov. Stone on the Mississippi Murder Cases.

The Mississippi Murder—Letter of Governor Stone.

NEW YORK, June 1.—The Tribune's Washington special says: The newspapers here on Saturday will print a letter from Gov. Stone of Mississippi, whereof the following are extracts: "Since the recent unfortunate occurrence in Kemper county, there has been no outbreak nor any demonstrations toward violence. I visited the scene of the trouble as soon as the report reached me, and remained there a part of two days. I made a full investigation, and also conversed freely with the family of Judge Chisholm. I afterward visited the Judge of the District, who was at that time hearing Court in Columbus, and obtained his promise to hold a special term of the Circuit Court, with a view to a full judicial investigation, as Captain Shaughnessy's volunteering the necessary force to protect the widow and her family was made ten days after the attack on the jail, when everything was quiet, and as eight days have since elapsed and quiet still prevails, I should say the reports heralded through the north based solely upon his telegram, are rather highly colored. It is not true that Mrs. Chisholm and her husband were in danger of assassination while the latter was lying wounded at home. It is not true that her husband was guarded by a mob day and night; that they swore to take her husband's life, and that she was not allowed egress or ingress without a pass from the heads of the mob.

No one justifies the act by which Judge Chisholm lost his life. Everything that is possible shall be done to arrest and punish the guilty parties. I do not hope to silence the misrepresentations of men who are making political capital out of the unfortunate affair. The South has been too long the victim of misrepresentation for your people to become willing suddenly to hear both sides before condemning. The recent telegrams and articles that have appeared in Northern papers are based solely upon my refusal to consent to an invasion of Kemper county by a body of men from other counties. The folly of consenting to such a proposition when no trouble was apprehended must be apparent to every reasonable person.

Grant's Departure from Manchester—Orations at Leicester, Bedford and Other Cities.

NEW YORK, June 1st.—The Herald's London special speaks thus of Grant's departure from Manchester: The factory girls turned out almost en masse in their morning attire and joined in the huzzahs. As he entered the station the ex-President walked directly to the drawing-room car which had been set apart for him. Mrs. Grant looked somewhat fatigued, but her husband never better. Several Americans had arrived from London to make the journey to the metropolis with him, and he at once entered into an animated conversation with them. At Leicester, being received by the Mayor, General Grant spoke briefly, referring to the kindness and generosity evinced in the addresses of welcome; remarking the antiquity of their town, its foundation by King Lear, and the honor it had of retaining the dust of Richard the III., the hero of Bosworth field. The Mayor expressed the hope that he would return at some future day, and visit the ancient land marks he had referred to, and accept the hospitality of the Mayoralty. General Grant could not promise definitely, but in all probability he will again visit the town. After partaking of a dejeuner and general introduction, the company and party re-entered the car. At Bedford, Grant again received an address of welcome, the Mayor terming him "The Hannibal of the American Army." All along the route the American and English flags entwined, with flowers, salutes, etc.

South Carolina Legislative Seats Declared Vacant.

NEW YORK, June 1st.—A dispatch from Columbia says: The Judiciary Committee to-day reported recommending that the seats be declared vacant of Judge Carpenter of the Fifth Circuit and Judge Cooke of the Eighth Circuit, on ground that they were elected at a time when there was no vacancy in the respective offices. Both of these gentlemen are staunch Republicans, and both were elected at the same time with Moses and Whipper. There is no doubt the Senate will sustain the action of the Committee, and a new election be ordered forthwith. General Kershaw will probably succeed Carpenter.

Rice-Coolidge Conspiracy Case in Boston.

BOSTON, June 1st.—The Rice-Coolidge conspiracy case came to a sudden termination in the Supreme Judicial Court this forenoon. Sweitzer of Lowell, for adjudication. The announcement created great disappointment among a crowd of spectators.

No appointments were agreed upon to-day, although there was a general discussion as to the comparative merits of a number of applicants for various positions at home and abroad.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Grant's Departure from Manchester.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Mutiny on an English Iron-Clad.

LONDON, June 1.—There was recently a meeting on board Her Majesty's iron armor-plated ship "Alexandria," the flagship of the Mediterranean, on account of the stringency of discipline, and the unusual severity of punishment. The whole of one watch refused to do duty and threw the sights of guns overboard. Three of the insubordinates were sentenced to forty days' imprisonment, and sent home in the "Monarch" to undergo punishment. A telegram from Athens gives an account of another mutiny while the "Alexandria" was lying at the Piraeus. The mutiny was quelled by marines and men summoned from other vessels. The mutineers were arrested and a court martial convened to try them. The cause of the second outbreak is stated to be dissatisfaction because of refusal of shore leave. Whereupon they rendered the "Alexandria's" guns unserviceable. It has been deemed necessary to send the "Alexandria" to cruise in the Mediterranean until further orders.

THE EASTERN WAR.

Inefficiency of the Turkish Military System.

LONDON, June 1st.—A correspondent says: The Turks do not seem to be able to take advantage of the delay of the Russian army in Asia. All accounts agree that the condition of their forces is worse than is generally believed. With the exception of arms, they lack everything requisite for an army in the field. There is scarcely any reserve stock of ammunition, especially for artillery. It is impossible to remedy all these shortcomings before the Russians advance on Erzeroum.

The Uprising in the Caucasus.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 1st.—A dispatch from headquarters of the army of the Caucassus says: A more pacific feeling is noticeable in front of Batoum. The inhabitants are surrendering their arms to the Russian authorities. An uprising has occurred in the Lerek District. The insurgents were dispersed by the troops. Insurgents lost eighty killed, and one hundred prisoners.

The Baunscheidt Method in Court.

The trial of Dr. Henry Renken, before a jury in the Police Court yesterday, on a charge of "practicing medicine" without a license, resulted in a disagreement of the jury—which stood eight for acquittal and four for conviction. The grounds relied upon by the defense was that the Baunscheidt mode of treating disease was not "practicing medicine," as ordinarily on medicine is used,—save an oily preparation with which the skin is anointed after being pricked by needles—the pricking being depended upon for relief. The case was set for trial again on the 29th of June.

Friends of John C. Reverly—who is under arrest on a charge of forgery—have offered to go on the accused man's bail bond. BACCHUS AND ARIADNE.

FOUNDED ON MEDICI'S CARNIVAL SONG

Fair is youth and wild of sorrow;
But it hourly flies away.
Youths and maids, enjoy to-day;
Naught ye know about to-morrow.

This is Bacchus and the bright
Ariadne, lovers true!
They in flying time's despite,
Each with each find pleasures new;
These, their Nymphs, and all their crew
Keep perpetual holiday.
Youths and maids, enjoy to-day;
Naught ye know about to-morrow.

These blythe Satyrs, wanton-eyed,
Of the Nymphs are paramours;
Through the caves and forests wide
They have snared them 'mid the flowers;
Warmed with Bacchus, in his bowers,
Now they dance and leap away.
Youths and maids, enjoy to-day;
Naught ye know about to-morrow.

These fair Nymphs, they are not loth
To entice their lover's wiles;
None but thankless folk and rough
Can resist when Love beguiles.
Now enlaced, with wreathed smiles,
All together dance and play.
Youths and maids, enjoy to-day;
Naught ye know about to-morrow.

See this load behind them plodding
On the ass! Silenus he,
Old and drunken, merry, nodding,
Full of years and jollity;
Though he goes so swayingly,
Yet he laughs and quaffs alway.
Youths and maids, enjoy to-day;
Naught ye know about to-morrow.

Midas treads a wearier measure;
All he touches turns to gold:
If there be no taste of pleasure,
What's the use of wealth untold?
What's the joy his fingers hold,
When he's forced to thirst for aye?
Youths and maids, enjoy to-day;
Naught ye know about to-morrow.

Listen well to what we're saying:
Of to-morrow have no care!
Young and old, together playing,
Boys and girls, be blithe as air!
Every sorry thought forswear!
Keep perpetual holiday.
Youths and maids, enjoy to-day;
Naught ye know about to-morrow.

Ladies and gay lovers young,
Long live Bacchus, live Desire!
Dance and play, let songs be sung;
Let sweet love your bosoms fire;
In the future come what may!
Youths and maids, enjoy to-day;
Naught ye know about to-morrow.
Fair is youth and wild of sorrow;
But it hourly flies away.

Owing to the fact that we have prepared to make immense additions to the Arcade in San Francisco, we have resolved to discontinue our business in this City.

Finding that in view of the extensive alterations, just commencing in our San Francisco House, and the tremendous increase in our business, we have been unable to devote proper attention to business here, and have consequently resolved on closing out at an early date. But

Before leaving Oakland

We will institute a sale which for

CHEAPNESS & SOLID BARGAINS

Has never been equalled on the Pacific Coast.

We shall mark down the whole stock to prices unheard of in the Dry Goods trade.

Having decided to carry over no goods to San Francisco, we shall actually and distinctly offer the most staple goods at prices much lower than even San Francisco merchants could purchase them.

THE MACKIE

Hydraulic Sewer Trap

THE UNDERSIGNED HAS JUST RETURNED from Washington with full and complete patents for his new Hydraulic Sewer Traps.

These traps are constructed on strictly scientific principles and are a perfect guard against the passage of sewer gases into the house. They are provided with a disinfecting chamber, which being filled once in three weeks throws down a disinfectant every time the water flows through the trap, keeping the pipes always sweet and clean. The gases most fatal to human life are those which, passing through the syphon trap when filled with water, flow into our rooms almost if not quite inodorous, and it is especially to guard against the passage of the most dangerous refined gases that this trap is designed.

THE MACKIE HYDRAULIC SEWER TRAP Has been examined by the most eminent Scientific men in this State, who have noted its workings in metal and glass, and also by our highest authorities on sewerage in the Eastern States, and in addition to their unanimous approval, they have expressed their opinion that it will be the means of saving hundreds of thousands of human lives, and for that purpose is the most important invention of the present century.

We are Prepared to Furnish These traps with fair discount to the trade, or will sell State or Territory rights. We guarantee their perfect working if properly used. The public are invited to visit our factory, corner of Valley and Locust (23) streets, Oakland, and watch their working in metal and glass.

REDUCTION IN GAS

Important to Landlords and Gas Consumers.

SAFETY AND ECONOMY.

OFFICE OAKLAND GAS LIGHT CO.,
September. 16, 1876.

IN CONTINUANCE OF THE POLICY FOLLOWED by this Company since its formation and to lower its rates as warranted, the Oakland Gas Light Company hereby give notice, that from and after the 1st day of October next the price of gas will be reduced to $4 PER THOUSAND CUBIC FEET.

Considering the value of coal and labor, the limited use of gas and the distance between the points of consumption. Oakland is one of the most cheaply lighted cities in the Union.
Some of the advantages of cheap gas are:
1st. A daily saving in the cost of one of the necessaries of life.
2d. A decrease in the number of fires caused by the use of the dangerous distillates of Petroleum.
3d. A saving of human life by substituting stationary lights for the brittle of lamps.
It is hoped that this further reduction will be favorably accepted by the public, and that the Company will receive many accessions to the number of its consumers.

V. L. EASTLAND,
Superintendent Oakland Gas Light Co.

Property Owners Attention!

CAUTION.

ARTIFICIAL STONE PAVEMENT,

Schillinger's Patent.

THE UNDERSIGNED IS THE SOLE AND exclusive owner of Schillinger's Patent for the State of California. Said patent was granted to John J. Schillinger, July 19th, 1870, and was re-issued May 2d, 1871. The said Patent has been repeatedly sustained and damages and costs inflicted upon infringers of it by the Courts. The following are the claims of the Patent, viz:

1. A concrete pavement laid in detached blocks or sections substantially in the manner shown and described.

2. The arrangement of tar paper or its equivalent between adjoining blocks of concrete, substantially as and for the purposes set forth. All property owners having artificial stone pavements laid in detached blocks or sections are infringing one or both of the claims of said patent, as are also the parties laying such pavements; and every property holder is hereby notified that he will be prosecuted for every infringement of said patent in which he participates.

The great success of this pavement has induced many irresponsible persons to infringe the patent, and at the same time wrong their employers by contracting to lay the pavements and then doing inferior jobs.

The undersigned is prepared to lay sidewalks, garden walks, carriage drives, floors, etc.

All work guaranteed.
